

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

Being aware of the need that environmental protection has in sustainable development, VERTICE I ARAGON is committed towards integrating that protection into its work.

This contribution toward sustainability is developed through a sense of responsibility and ethics, along with a firm commitment to environmental preservation and protection, and through the promotion of energy savings and efficiency.

This commitment takes the form of the promotion of environmental responsibility and the dissemination of the integration of the protection of the environment in each and every one of our actions.

The basis of good environmental practices lies in the following measures:

- Guaranteeing compliance with the environmental regulations applicable to our activities.
- With the application of environmental criteria in the planning and decision-making processes, every activity is analysed in terms of the effect that it might have on the Environment.
- Identification of new environmental improvements in each project.
- Waste is reduced, being recycled and re-used.
- Dissemination of our environmental policy to employees, sub-contractors, suppliers and clients.
- Spreading environmental awareness by means of education, perception raising and distribution for all of the VERTICE staff. Promotion of good environmental and energy saving practices.
